

The truth is out!

And it's pretty dirty.

A study found only 76% of men always wash their hands after going to the toilet, and 59% wash their hands before touching food.

*Reference: Food Safety Information Council, '1 in 5 Australians don't always wash their hands after going to the toilet' (23 October 2019).